

Because i met her

Before i met her i was lost as a person, cared nothing about my life, i risked with my life and my well being cause i actually had nothing to lose. I mean i was a young man with great potential. But i had gotten tired to early..given up to quickly...i was just passing the time..not a aware that life was passing me by..i was always drunk, sad and mad..i had lost all that i had..even though it wasn't much but at least it was something..my life was a disappointment...no hope present, no faith to hold on to and i found solace in the bottle..

i drank so hard that one time i thought of suicide by a car..it about 3am in the morning..i was too drunk to go to sleep...i had no friend just the people i was drinking with, whom all went to their homes n were sound asleep in their beds...and there i was just walking around all night drunk as a skunk..i was walking in the middle of the road as cars came pass me..and paid on mind to them..then an evil thought creeped into my mind ...why not i just lay on the road and have a car run over me..i was waisted with one shoe in my hand cause i had lost the other one..so then i tried to kill myself i slept on the road waiting for a car to come through to my disappointment no car came..i got up walked it was like god was there n protecting me from myself...

so i got off the road and i took a gravel road i didn't know ...i was walking away from the place i knew into the place i didn't know...my hope was perhaps i was gonna get lost and find myself in bushes and sleep there ... And hoped maybe a venomous snake might come by and bite me and i would die there alone in the woods and no one will miss me or notice that i was gone and dead ...i was very suicidal and self destructive but on that very cold morning nothing came right for me, soon enough the sun came out and i was now embarrassed of how i lookedalthough i had walk so far away from the people that know me but still i couldn't shake away the fact that i was in that state...alcohol was now wearing off and i needed some to dumb everything off for me..

To be continued.....